A West Coast Town Meeting Forum entitled Implementing the NASA Vision for Space Exploration will be held in conjunction with the Responsive Space Conference to be held on April 28th at the same location, sponsored by the AIAA Los Angeles Section and National Space Club. A networking social hour followed by a dinner then panel will convene on Thursday, April 28 from 5:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at LAX Westin Hotel. Watch for a specific flyer and registration on the Responsive Space website.

The forum will update the aerospace industry, military, academia, and government lab leaders on the nature of NASA's vision for the future scientific and human space exploration programs, and on what that vision implies for the partnering of the NASA Centers and aerospace industry.

The forum will be moderated by Al Diaz, NASA Science Mission Directorate Associate Administrator and will include Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) Director Charles Elachi, Ames Research Center Director Scott Hubbard, and Goddard Space Flight Center Deputy Director Chris Scolese.

The pressure to launch quicker and cheaper space missions forces organizations to partner in order to meet the challenge. A typical space mission features five or more major partners – each bringing a particular expertise to the table. Please join our distinguished panel as they discuss these partnerships and what that vision implies.
